Two Popular Assessment Tools

Comprehensive Organizational Review for Excellence (CORE) Assessment. Juran's CORE Assessment is a tool to help clients worldwide measure system-wide performance with a common methodology, similar to the National Awards for Excellence in place in many countries around the globe. It is a 'quantitative assessment' used to measure and evaluate an organization's total business system against a set of global competencies and best practices. By conducting a CORE Assessment throughout an organization, the organization will gain a third party review of the critical processes that impact quality, performance, and customer satisfaction, as well as identify where changes should be made to maximize performance improvement results in business operations.

Quick Strike Global Assessment of Performance (GAP). This analysis is similar to what is described in the CORE Assessment, except that the scope is reduced to focus on specific elements of CORE. It is a 'qualitative assessment.' Juran gathers information through interviews and review of important company documentation. A written report will be prepared and presented to senior management. The report from a Quick Strike GAP analysis uses a narrative format rather than the scoring format utilized in the CORE to capture strengths, deficiencies, and recommendations to improve on the deficiencies and build on the strengths.
